The Practicum Experience in NUR4909 Nursing Capstone RN to BSN includes an Indirect Care component, what does this mean?
The Accreditation Organization for Rasmussen’s College of Nurse BSN Program, Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education states:

Indirect care refers to nursing decision, actions, or interventions that are provided through or on behalf of patients. These decisions or interventions create the conditions under which nursing care of self-care may occur. Nurses might use administrative decisions, population or aggregate health planning, or policy development to affect health outcomes in this way.

Where can I participate in the NUR4909 Nursing Capstone RN to BSN Indirect Care practicum experience?

You will work with the Preceptor to design a Capstone Project, but you will not participate directly in the clinical setting with the Preceptor.

Examples of appropriate indirect care experiences include:

- Educating other healthcare providers regarding the safe and effective use of new technology
- Writing policy and working with other stakeholders to have the policy approved by the state board of nursing
- Working with community leaders to develop a disaster/emergency preparedness plan for a specific population in a community
- Collaborating with the facility information technology staff to design an electronic health record
- Writing an administrative policy that will improve communication among the units in the facility
- Revising new graduate orientation based on feedback from staff and leadership

Will I have to implement the Capstone Project?
No. You will choose a quality and safety concern relevant to your healthcare setting and create a proposal to solve the issue. The proposal will include a description of the topic, objectives, implementation plan, and an evaluation plan. For more information review the document, “Capstone Project Overview” in the Course Project Information area located in the left navigation menu of the course.
